Denise Freeman

Denise is a local artist who discovered her muse after retiring from a long career in nursing. "I am told my paintings make people happy, vibrant colors and whimsical images, inspired by nature and my unique imagination."

Gwynda McKee

I have the pleasure of living on the banks of the Sydenham River and regularly paddle to the Mill Dam and Harrison Park. Many of my photographs were taken on those occasions and I realize how influenced I am by water and its many nuances.

I hope you enjoy viewing them as much as I do taking them.

Maggie Mann

Pebble jewellery from Sauble Beach, Lake Huron. I am a Meandering Maker, and besides Pebble jewellery there will be leather goods and..... Being drawn to many different mediums of expression as a maker is a gift and a curse. A gift...who can resist the beauty of rare breed sheep wool or a perfectly smooth stone and the ideas that they generate? A curse...because, well, where do I focus today, and how do they all intersect?
